

Apple Q4 '10 App Store (UK) Featuring The Economist App by AgaveApps

The screenshot shows the Apple App Store interface for the UK region. At the top, there is a navigation bar with icons for Music, Films, TV Programmes, App Store (selected), Podcasts, Audiobooks, iTunes U, and Ping. Below this is a device selection bar with 'iPhone' and 'iPad' buttons. The main banner features a large red box with the text 'The Economist' on the left, a row of magazine covers in the center, and an 'iBooks' advertisement on the right. The 'iBooks' ad includes the text 'Build Your Library', 'My Taptu Into it? Taptu it.', and 'Find My iPhone Find your lost iPhone, iPad or iPod touch.' Below the banner is a 'New & Noteworthy' section with a 'See All >' link. This section displays a grid of app icons and their names: 'The Decanter Wo... Lifestyle', 'Lady Gaga Reve... Games', 'CIMA Official Re... Education', 'KAYAK First Cla... Travel', 'Cam Scanner+ Productivity', 'Artlyst Entertainment', 'Civilizati Games', 'pulse', 'AMEX', 'HOME HD', 'Home Projects', and 'CULIN FUNDAME'. On the right side of the screen, there are vertical lists for 'iPho APP ST...', 'TOP CH...', and 'Paid Ap...'. The bottom of the screen shows the iOS dock with several app icons.

Business-savvy.

Bloomberg

Free • Staying on top of the world's markets is easier when you have the most respected source for financial news and expert analysis right in your pocket.

The Economist

Free • The magazine the world's opinion leaders rely on is now at your fingertips. Read or listen to highlights of economic and business news and analysis, with a uniquely global perspective.

Cisco WebEx

Free • Join secure online meetings right from your phone. View presentations with live notations while conferenced in with your team, so anywhere you are, everyone's on the same page.

Oracle BI

Free • Access real-time data from your Oracle Business Intelligence software anytime, anywhere. From enterprise reports to KPIs, this powerful tool keeps you current in or out of the office.

iWork

$9.99 each • Numbers, Pages and Keynote
Now you can take the most innovative way to create impressive spreadsheets, documents and presentations wherever you go.

iPhone loves business. With over 425,000 apps, the best phone for apps just keeps getting better.

iPhone 4

Apple Q3 '11 iTunes Store (US) Featuring The Economist App by AgaveApps

